It's Inclusive

- One of the great things about the insurance industry is that you don't have to have a specific educational background or set of work experiences.

It's exciting

- While many roles do have an element of independence, an insurance career often calls for frequent client interaction, teamwork, networking and professional stewardship.

The roles are highly varied

- Besides a range of different responsibilities, opportunities for career specialization abound in insurance.

There's lots of opportunity to learn and grow

- Since the insurance industry welcomes candidates from a diverse range of backgrounds, there's a heavy emphasis on training and development, both in terms of onboarding and continual learning.

You can specialize in insurance

- There are lots of college and university programs, specializations, designations, and certifications out there to give your education an edge or specialize your skills to a particular insurance career path.
